CURRENT
■ Continuing the previous approach Bernardo had started the conversation and asked from every participant about the research progress which everyone have from previous meeting. All members shared their ideas what they have done so far. Paul shared the key words and hashtags for extracting data from both social medias.			<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
■ Discussing the method for extracting data from YouTube videos We have at least some APIs for retrieving the data from Twitter but we emphasized more on comparable social media. Benjamin discussed about the data that we can get from the YouTube API, and discussed the limitations of the API and shared his previous experience to analyze the data from YouTube. Bernardo brought up some data that we can make a comparison between the data from Twitter and YouTube with the sentiment analysis app for twitter. Agreement: Apart from using the Twitter API, we agreed on extracting data from YouTube (e.g. previous meeting.)			<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
■ Topic Selection For the topic, which we want to use for collecting the data, we finalize the discussion and decided to take "Brexit" as our topic for retrieving the data. We thought there might be problem about other topic which we discussed previously like we need to write keywords as well apart from hashtags that is why we thought to stick with the "Brexit" as our topic.			<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
■ Parallel Approach of colleagues Romanian team asked about how our(German) other colleagues are looking for this project.			<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

Either they focused more on keywords or hashtags?  Junaid and Benjamin told about the other teams point of view about this project. Agreement: We agreed for working more to extract data from comments (YouTube) and tweets (Twitter) and will come with the results in next meeting
■ Distribution of work. Previously it was decided that German team will take care of Twitter but in this meeting Paul showed his interests to work on Twitter data. That is why we have changed our workplan. We distribute our work in two teams 1.German Team  2.Romanian Team Team 1 Will be responsible to think about data from YouTube and as team 2 wanted to work with Twitter so they will have to come up with the data which they have taken up to next meeting.			<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
TO DOs UNTIL THE NEXT MEETING
Come up with the results from the Twitter API to retrieve the data	Team from Romania	Next meeting
